

MARVEL NOT:
The Certainty of Resurrection

INTRO: Today we celebrate the miracle of resurrection. Jesus of Nazareth was the first person who resurrected from the dead, but He won't be the last. In John's Gospel, Jesus promised that all people will experience bodily resurrection in the future. But, how can this be?

I. All people have been promised _____.
Unless the Lord returns beforehand, death is a reality but so is a future bodily resurrection.

II. Resurrection results in one of two eternal destinies:
_____ (a.k.a. heaven) or _____ (a.k.a. hell).
Every person will live forever; the question is WHERE.

III. To inherit eternal life, _____ on the only one _____ enough to merit eternal life, _____.
Since we can never be good enough, our hope lies in Him who never sinned. We need His righteousness, but how do we get it?

A. No one is _____ enough to inherit eternal life.
The Bible makes this point clearly and often (Cf. Romans 3:10, 23; Isaiah 64:6).

B. Only _____ is good. Only God is perfectly sinless or holy (Cf. Mark 10:17-22).

C. The only good _____ we can do is _____ on Him who is good; _____. When we do, the righteousness of the perfect God-Man is imputed to our spiritual account (Cf. John 6:28-29).
