Pastor's Pondering

When I was a young boy, there was only one restaurant that my brothers and I wanted to eat at—McDonald's. Every road trip and meal away from home found us looking for the glorious Golden Arches, and we voted en bloc to get our way.

Not that we got our way that often, as my dad often vetoed us. He was not enthralled with Mickey D's, preferring local restaurants with unique flare—many of which still fuel my nightmares. Why did he choose to roll the dice with an unknown when we knew what we would get from McDonald's and that it was good?

For me, McDonald's has always existed and reminds me of my childhood. For my dad, McDonald's didn't exist until he was a teenager and unique, local restaurants are more familiar and enjoyable to him.

Different experiences at key parts of life shape us. How have you been shaped?

- Blessings, David

And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, so that you may prove what the will of God is, that which is good and acceptable and perfect.
