Pastor's Pondering

What do church leaders mean when they discuss discipleship? The word means the state or condition of being a follower of Jesus, but church leaders seem to use it to describe church programs or initiatives. This misuse of the term causes us to confuse who is responsible for an individual's walk with God, and how a church should measure itself.

Churches provide opportunities and encouragement for people to grow in Jesus. We provide teaching, a social structure for faith development, and opportunities to serve. These things are not discipleship, but you can use them, as a disciple, to help you to grow in Jesus.

Whether or not you use the tools and opportunities that your church provides for you to grow in your walk with Jesus is your responsibility. Therefore, the quality of your discipleship is up to you.

- Blessings, David
