Pastor's Pondering

Seems like it is time for my annual rant about Daylight Saving Time, except I have come around to accepting that the times we assign are arbitrary, seeing as how the Central Time Zone stretches from the panhandle of Florida through the plains of Texas. The Sun is not directly above Pensacola and Van Horn at the same time, so what does it matter if we move the clock up one whole hour indefinitely? The main thing would be to do away with the Springing and the Falling Back.

The best Spring Daylight Saving Day I ever had was in 2020. We were in Arizona and had the happy experience of not moving forward at all that day. Another way to deal with it is to not change your clock until after you wake up. FBC Richardson used to not move their clocks until noon.

However you deal with it, I pray you recover well next week!

- Blessings, David
