Pastor's Pondering

Many people in the Bible ended up being and doing the opposite of what they once were. Abraham had no children and became the father of many. Moses was "slow of speech" and a murderer, yet became the spokesperson for God and deliverer of Israel. Paul was a Pharisee of Pharisees and became the Apostle to the Gentiles.

Even outside of the Bible, there is Luther, who tried to earn God's favor and became the catalyst for the reformation with "by faith alone," or George Mueller, previously a thief who desired an easy life, turned into a pastor who literally prayed for his daily bread as he built orphanages.

It makes me look back on my life to try and figure out what I was truly like as a youth, so I might have an idea of what God is doing with me today. What were you like when you were younger? Has God led you to be the antithesis of your former self?

- Blessings, David

Worship Preparation

As we conclude August and our focus on the future, we turn to Matthew 10:1-15 with a thought toward being a blessing.

August Memory Verse
