A Prayer for Your College Student Before the Big Move

We thank our Lord for the young people in our lives. We recognize what an accomplishment it is for them as they venture into the next stage of their lives, moving to college, starting a new career or profession, or exploring new horizons.

It is not just a pivotal time for them academically, but also a dynamic one for life, which will never be quite the same again.

We know that each student has their own unique journey. Our young person is ready, eager, and bouncing off the walls to start their next chapter, even the most prepared ones may have a mind that lingers with doubts, “what-ifs”, and questions about what exactly the future holds.

This is where the benefit of having a strong support system back at home is an irreplaceable gift. It is not necessarily that they need you to hold their hand through this transition, but knowing that your hand is extended to them will offer the reminder of stability and a safe place.

As parents, mentors, and counselors in Christ, we can ask the Lord to make our hearts ever aware and softened to how best to love them, offer godly counsel, or encourage them in the moment. God sees everything, so if He moves you to mail a care package, text a sweet note of hope, or drop a reminder that you care, trust He has an intentional purpose for that nudge. You never know the impact you can have on someone for simply being available and present.

Getting Your Early Learner's Ready

Your child's education takes center stage; they're destined for greatness! Our programs are designed to create connections, develop social and emotional skills, and help build community. While your child is busy making new friends and having a blast, they'll also be laying the foundation for learning and growing.

Choosing the right academy is crucial as it significantly impacts a child's development, emotional well-being, and social skills. A nurturing environment fosters growth and provides peace of mind for parents, ensuring their child is safe and supported while they are away.

Selecting the appropriate academy can influence various aspects of a child's life. Quality daycare promotes cognitive and social development, laying a foundation for future learning. A supportive environment helps children feel safe and loved, which is essential for their emotional growth. Knowing that their child is in a nurturing environment allows parents to focus on other responsibilities. Interaction with peers in daycare helps children develop social skills, such as sharing and cooperation.

Prepare for Back to School ➡ Understanding the Back-to-School Timeline

A Practical Planning Guide 📅

The timing of preparation matters. Most families begin thinking about back to school 4–8 weeks before the first day, though the intensity varies. Early preparation lets you spread costs and decisions across time; last-minute scrambling creates stress and limits options.

Schools typically release supply lists, class assignments, and schedules anywhere from 2–6 weeks before the start date. Some provide this information online; others distribute it in person. Knowing when your specific school releases information helps you plan backwards.

Things we can do to help prepare before the first day begin:

Obtaining supply lists (usually 4–6 weeks before)

Purchasing supplies and clothing (6–8 weeks, or as school info arrives)

Physical check-ins (school tours, classroom visits, orientation meetings—timing varies)

Administrative tasks (enrollment forms, health records, emergency contacts)

Mental/emotional preparation (conversations about expectations, routine adjustments)
