

ABORTION PROCEDURE:

Abortion is the termination of a pregnancy. It can be induced (abortion) or spontaneous (miscarriage). There two types of induced abortion: Medical and Surgical.

If you are considering an abortion, it is important to be educated concerning all aspects of the procedure. Abortion, whether medical or surgical, comes with risks to the mother. You should also consider that miscarriage, or natural loss of the pregnancy, is very common. According to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (ACOG), an estimated 15-20% of all clinically recognized pregnancies will naturally end in a miscarriage.

We recommend the American Pregnancy Association Website for education on each type of abortion procedure, risks and possible complications:

<http://americanpregnancy.org/unplannedpregnancy/surgicalabortions.html>

If you would like to speak to someone regarding abortion Call now: 760-741-9796, contact us or Request an Appointment. We provide free and confidential services to empower you in the decision making process.