

Conference Facilitators

Drs. Neal and Sharon Siler

The Silers have been in ministry with couples for over thirty-five years working with distressed couples, abuse and trauma survivors, those with substance abuse problems and their families. They are trained Pairs Relationship Educators, a relationship model for helping couples connect heart to heart, experience empathy and mutual respect, and resolve conflicts through emotional bonding and openness.

Dr. Neal Siler is the Senior Pastor of First Shiloh Baptist Church and President and Founder of The Healing Place Center for Counseling and Spiritual Formation. He is the author of How I Got Over: Healing for the African American Soul and several other books and small group curricula that focuses on spiritual formation, soul care and inner healing in the African American experience.

Dr. Sharon Siler is Minister of Women at First Shiloh. She is Chairman of the Board and Program Director for the Healing Place, where she provides individual counseling, spiritual direction, and facilitates healing care small groups. She is a trained spiritual director and formational prayer counselor. She is the creator of the Healing Care Grief Recovery Small Group Ministry and co-facilitates the ICP Couples Small Group ministry with her husband. Celebrating forty years of marriage the Silers enjoy a wonderful family life with their two married adult children and their three grandchildren.

THE ICP MARRIAGE CONFERENCE

Growing in Intimacy, Connection and Purpose

April 13-14, 2018

FIRST SHILOH BAPTIST CHURCH
8150 Walnut Grove Rd., Mechanicsville, VA

Couples Growing in Intimacy – Connection – Purpose

Conference Overview

The ICP Marriage Conference is designed to help couples see their relationship through God's eyes, understand the bigger picture and higher purpose of their marriage. The conference will provide practical insights and help for greater fulfillment and satisfaction.

Why should you attend a marriage conference?

First, to keep your own marriage exciting, and growing. Marriages either get better or they get worse. They never stand still. Second, most couples want to explore ways to enrich their relationship but rarely have the time or opportunity to do so. Third, to equip you to minister to other couples who turn to you for help. In the church and in the work place, people turn to friends long before they go to a counselor. The couple's conference will give you insights on how to help.

Conference Sessions:

- The Price of Forgiveness: Recognizing how Hurt and Vulnerability Leads to Greater Self-Acceptance and Relational Healing.
- Believe the Best, Speak the Best, Do the Best: the Healing Power of Empathy and Little Kindnesses
- Don't Take the J out of Joy! Marriage can be Fun
- Lovers for a Lifetime: Communicate, Trust and Connect
- Marriage First Aid Kit: A Deeper Look at Us
- Loving How We Grow Together: Holding You Now and Forever
