

COVENANT COUNSELING

*"I was glad when they said to me,
let us go into the house of the LORD."*

Psalm 122:1

"Christian counseling" is an umbrella term that is used to describe therapy or counseling services that incorporate a person's Christian faith. It may use faith-based principles as the entire foundation or it may be just one component of the counselor's approach. While the term is often used interchangeably with biblical or pastoral counseling, it's important to recognize that there are multiple types of Christian counseling that are each provided by different kinds of professionals.
