

Eagle Eye

September 2016

Vol. 4
Issue 1

School Calendar

Friday Sept 23 No School
Tuesday Oct 4 Late Start
Monday Oct 10 Columbus Day No School
Friday Oct 28 No School

Sports Calendar

Wednesday Sep 21, Girls' Volleyball
Mesrobian
Monday Sep 26, Girls' Volleyball, Le Lycee Intl
Tuesday Sep 27, Girls' Volleyball,
Southwestern
Tuesday Sep 27, Boys' Football, Sequoyah
Wednesday Sep 28, Boys' Football, Glendale
Thursday Sep 29, Girls' Volleyball, Sequoyah
Monday Oct 3, Girls' Volleyball, New Harvest
Christian
Monday Oct 3, Boys' Football, Aveson
Tuesday Oct 4, Girls' Volleyball, Le Lycee
Friday Oct 7, Girls' Volleyball, Mesrobian
Thursday Oct 13, Girls' Volleyball, Aveson
Charter School
Monday Oct 17, Girls' Volleyball, Waverly
Monday Oct 17, Boys' Football, Glendale
Tuesday Oct 18, Girls' Volleyball, St. Monica
Tuesday Oct 18, Boys' Football, Sequoyah
Friday Oct. 21-23, Boys' Football, Loma Linda
Tourney
Tuesday Oct 25, Girls' Volleyball, Le Lycee
Monday Oct 31, Boys' Football, Aveson

Proverbs 25:15

Through patience a ruler can be persuaded,
and a gentle tongue can break a bone.

John 3:16

For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life.

Ephesians 2:8-9

For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this is not from yourselves, it is the gift of God— not by works, so that no one can boast.

Judson Moves to New Building, Better Place for Students' Studying

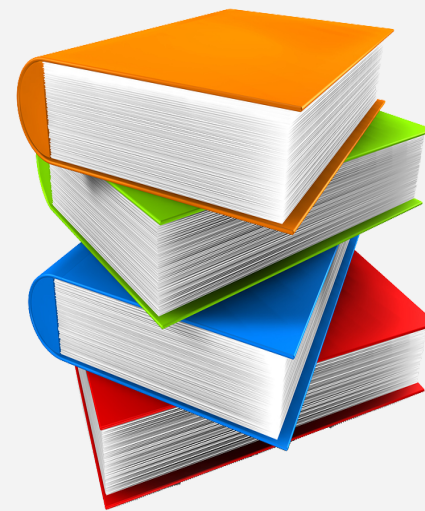

By Hector Liu and Alex Yu

On Friday September 2, we moved into the new building. It's on the second floor of our middle school. Our new building changed the hall to a locker room and made every classroom bigger than before.

Unfortunately, our restrooms are smaller, but we can get closer to the parking lot, so it's more convenient for our parents picking us up!

Some students say they like the basement better, but Mrs. Giron said, "I think it's great that we have bigger and brighter classrooms now and everything is more centralized. I look forward to watching Judson grow!"

Mr. Fields also said "it's good for communications, for relationship with the Jr. High, and a much better fit than the basement."

Aly Raisman Comes Back to Win Silver after Heartbreaking Tiebreaker Four Years Ago

by: Shelby Alvord

Aly Raisman had done an amazing job in the London olympics. She had become the first American woman ever to win the gold in floor exercise.

She had shocked herself then. But standing on the podium for the all around competition had just slipped through her fingers.

In London, Raisman had just won a bronze medal on the beam and a gold medal in floor exercise, which put her in a tie for third place in the all around competition. Aly was going to win bronze in the all around. But there was a tie against the Russian gymnast Aliya Mustafina.

The tie was decided by omitting both Mustafina's and Raisman's lowest scores from the four events. Mustafina beat Raisman by 0.567 points, sealing Aly's fate, and knocking her off the podium she had worked so hard to get too.

Aly said after losing the bronze, "I think how painful it was for me, it will always bother me."

After that Aly left gymnastics for a year, but she later decided to come back. Many people said she couldn't do it. She would be 22, a "grandma" for the next Olympics. Even then she came back and made it onto the Olympic team in Rio.

Four years later, it was Thursday night. Aly Raisman had been one of the two athletes from the U.S.

gymnastics team to go to the all around competition. It was right after the second rotation, and Aly was in fourth behind Mustafina who was leading in first.

"I feel like I'm better now than I was in 2012," Raisman said Thursday after taking silver in the all-around. "I'm very proud of that. It's obviously not something people expected or that's easy to do after taking a year off and being the 'Grandma,' as everyone likes to call me. I'm happy I proved everyone wrong."

Aly Raisman after winning the silver explaining the last olympics, "It was heartbreaking and devastating. But everything happens for a reason," Raisman said, lifting her silver medal to show a crowd of reporters. "I didn't know the reason until now."

"Is this redemption?" a reporter asked.

"Yes," she said. "Yes. Yes. Yes."

Gabby Douglas bullied during Rio Olympics

By Leah Soderling

Gabby Douglas is an Olympic gymnast who competes for the United States team. She competed in the 2012 London Olympics and 2016 Rio de Janeiro. Gabby is the "First African American to win all around gold medal." She was part of the "Final Five."

After the US girls gymnastics team won gold, Gabby started getting a lot of hate on social media. The team stood up on the podium to receive the gold medal and have the National Anthem played, and Gabby did not put her hand over her heart.

Dahleen Glanton said, "Once it became clear early in the Games that Douglas wasn't going to be able to soar to the heights she did in London in 2012, her critics set out to destroy her on the internet."

They also commented on social media that she looked uninterested while two of her teammates were competing in the individual all around competition. The bullies used Twitter, calling her "#crabbygabby," which grew into most social media coverage. Her critics called her crabbygabby saying she was a loser and making jokes about her hair.

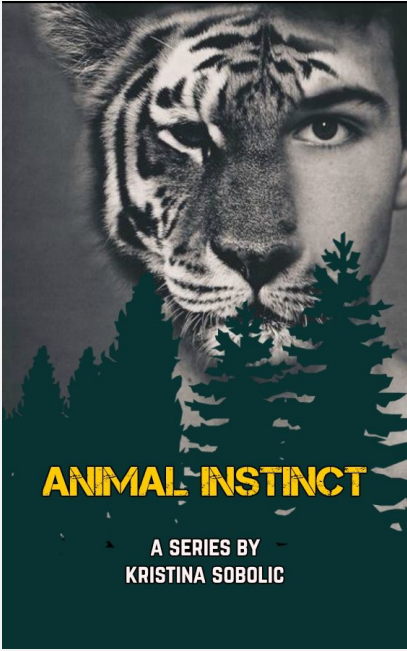

Gabby has been thankful for family and her team who have come alongside her during this difficult time. She has been so thankful for the many positive notes and prayers.

Leslie Jones was also a victim of getting attacked on social media, so she made a #LOVE4GABBYUSA to show support for Gabby.

"For me, when you go through a lot, and you have so many difficulties, and people [are] against you sometimes," Gabby told the Washington Post.

"It kind of just determines your character. Are you going to stand, or are you going to crumble? In the face of everything, still stand. I have no regrets coming back for a second Olympics. It's been an amazing experience, an amazing journey so far. And it's teaching me a lot."

A person could get lost in the dark,backwoods of Maine if he wanted to. And that’s just what the Jacksons did. To some, the woods were an unnerving and scary place, but as for Rhydian it was a place full of light, where he could be himself. The truth was that Rhydian was different, as his whole family was.

It’s difficult enough to grow up without a father, but even more when one’s whole family is in hiding.

Part One:

School is my worst nightmare. I guess most 16-year-olds would say that, but for me, it’s literally hell. Most people call me the golden boy. I'm good at sports, I'm my mom's most prized possession, I’m literally considered perfect. My life is great, most people say. But they don't know my secret, and they hopefully never will. They can’t.

“Rhydian...RHYDIAN!”
I jolted awake.
“Uhm, s-sorry Mr.Stevens.” I had fallen asleep again. It was like the fifth time this week. I just couldn’t seem to stay awake. Biology was just so boring. I already knew all this stuff anyway. Plus, none of this actually applied to me. I’m just different.

“Detention, 3 o’clock, don’t miss it, Mr. Jackson”

“Yes sir.” I really hate this school. This was my third detention this week. I couldn’t get kicked out of this school too. We were running low on schools in this state. I really am fed up with moving, I’ve lived in 28 different states so far.

I mean, our family doesn’t have any problems with moving. We could just portal ourselves wherever we wanted. It’s just that I hate having to lie to everyone I meet. Pretending to be mundane really gets to you eventually.

Our family is part of the Assistance of the Mundane, or AOTM, revolution. Most of our kind, the Skin Walkers, are part of the revolution . I know, creepy name right? That’s what old European legends call us. We like to call ourselves Shifters, usually better known as Shapeshifters.

Our kind has a few rules: kill or be killed, don’t abuse the power, and most importantly DON’T TELL THE HUMANS OR YOU WILL SURELY DIE! And blah, blah, blah...

“RHYDIAN JACKSON! FOR THE LAST TIME WAKE UP OR GET OUT OF MY CLASS!!!!”

“Fine! Thanks, mister SI!” I swung my bag over my shoulder and slammed the door behind me, putting an extra strut in my walk. Hearing a bunch of teenage girls giggling behind me, I smiled to myself.

I hadn’t fully transformed into a skinwalker. If I had, I could have easily turned into a fly or something so that I could still hear the lesson, but as it was, I could only turn into a red-tailed hawk or a frog. I know, great options right?

I saw Louis walking down the hall to his Algebra class. Since he was only a Freshman, he had a different schedule than us Sophomores. I guess having a little brother would be cool if we wanted to play sports together or something, but he always seemed to be there when I got kicked out of class, and of course he would tell Mom. Even though he was already 15, he hadn't caught on to the fact that tattling wasn't “cool” anymore.

I guess I should be used to it, but even though we’re a close family, I hate having these problems. I should be able to trust my own kind.

To Be Continued...

2016 Journalism Team

- Yoelle Yosef - Editor
- Leah Soderling - Editor
- Zackarie Ramirez- Graphic Design
- Kristina Sobolic - Graphic Design/Writer
- Adrian Arcaro - Writer
- Shelby Alvord - Writer
- Alex Yu - Photographer
- Hector Liu - Photographer

Mad Lib

By: Zackarie Ramirez

In a small town named _____ (town name) lives a boy named _____(name). He’s turning _____(number) years old today but his family is very poor. He loves video games; his favorite video game is _____(game name). He likes video games more then anything. _____(same name) actually wishes he could live in a game. He opens the one present he got from his _____(adjective) family. _____(same name) got a new video game that he really wanted. He then blew out his _____(adjective) candles and made a wish. But little did he know that he was going to get more than he wished for. The next morning _____(same name) was so excited to play his new game he turned on his _____(gaming system) and began to play it. But when he turned it on a _____ (noun) appeared on his tv and it sucked him into _____(game). He later woke up in _____(same game) _____(adjective)

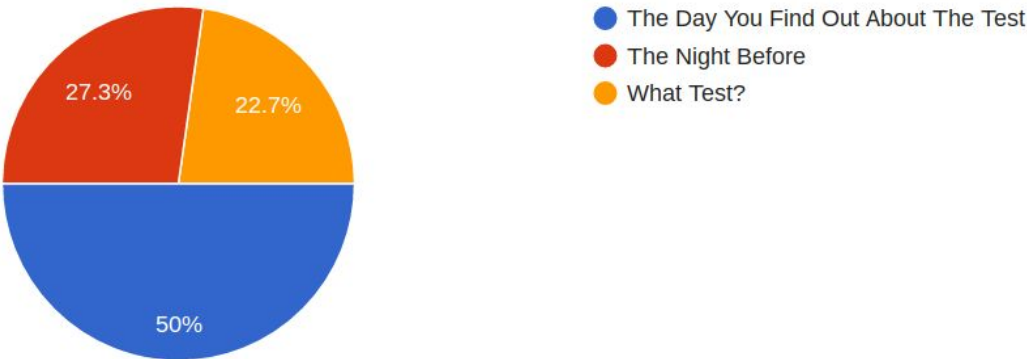

Judson Survey

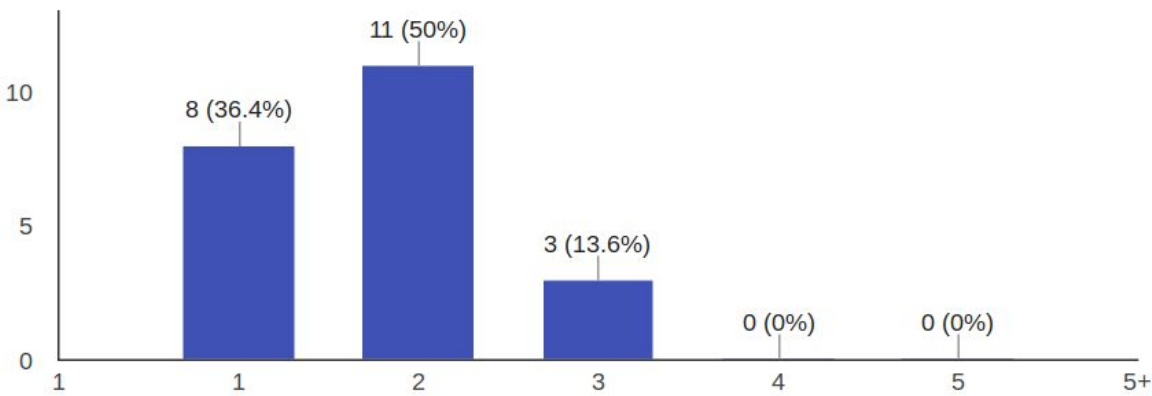

By: Yoelle Yosef and Adrian Arcarco

Here are the results of the survey you received via email.
Thank you for participating.

When Do You Start Studying For Tests? (22 responses)

How Many Languages Do You Speak? (22 responses)

How Many Countries Have You Lived In? (22 responses)

